

AREAS OF AGREEMENT FOUND IN AG. ZONING

VISALIA - Areas of agreement seem to be replacing the wide open spaces of disagreement between officials of Tulare county and farmers of the county.

This appeared to be the case following a meeting, Monday of an interim committee, named by Charles Cummings, chairman of the board of supervisors, to work out, if possible, a zoning ordinance that would be acceptable to farmers.

Chairing the committee is Don Trueblood, president of the Tulare County Cattlemen's association. On the committee are Hil Van Houten, president of the Tulare County Farm Bureau; Ed Olson, chairman of the county planning commission; Sheldon Jackson, director of the Agricultural Extension service in Tulare county; "Butch" Mankins, agricultural commissioner; Supervisors Ray Muller and Don Hillman; Roy Lowe and Bob Bream.

Meeting with this committee and joining into the discussion were some 25 farmers representing several commodity groups, cattlemen, and Farm Bureau.

Even though the trend was toward more, rather than less agreement, there is no certainty that sufficient accord will be reached when the committee reports to the board of supervisors next Tuesday, and that an agricultural zone, or zones, will be established.

Considerable controversy, and opposition to agricultural zoning, arose when the matter was discussed by the board of supervisors about three weeks ago.

NO CONFLICT BETWEEN CATTLEMEN AND FARM BUREAU; STATEMENT MADE

VISALIA - There is no conflict between the Tulare County Farm Bureau and the Tulare County Cattlemen's Association concerning agricultural zoning in Tulare County.

This statement was made by Hil Van Houten, President of the Tulare County Farm Bureau, and Don Trueblood, President of the Tulare County Cattlemen's Association following a recent meeting of the Farm Bureau livestock committee with representatives of the Farm Bureau Board of Directors and the Cattlemen's Association at the Farm Bureau office in Visalia.

Farm Bureau and Cattlemen believe that some form of agricultural zoning is desirable, however neither organization has gone on record, pro or con, concerning specific zoning ordinances, it was stated by Van Houten and Trueblood. Both Trueblood and Van Houten have been appointed by Charles Cummings, Chairman of the Tulare County Board of Supervisors, to an interim committee that will study agricultural zoning ordinance No. 352 and will make recommendations on revision.

Trueblood, who is chairman of the committee, says that a report will be made (Continued On Page 8)

MICHAELIS OUTSTANDING YOUNG FARMER

PORTERVILLE - Ronald Michaelis has been selected by the Porterville junior chamber of commerce, as outstanding young farmer of the year, and will enter competition for the state title Saturday, at Hanford.

FIVE COMMUNITIES of Tulare county are represented by contestants seeking the title of queen of the 1967 Springville rodeo, slated for April 8 and 9 at the Springville Rodeo arena. Entered in the queen contest are, from left, standing: Barbara Myers, Springville; Lillian Broad, Johnni Tweedy, and Shirley Gadbury, Porterville; and Sandra Lee Kimbriel, California Hot Springs. Seated: Arvada Eggman, Terra Bella; and Shelly Rose, Tulare. Selected with the rodeo queen will be a first and a second princess; contestants will name a "Miss Congeniality." Judging will be based equally on sale of special tickets and on horsemanship; winners will be announced at a Coronation ball the evening of April 1 in the Springville Memorial building. Horsemanship judging is set for March 18, 1:30 p.m. at the Springville rodeo arena. Chairman of the rodeo queen contest is Mrs. Carol Sorenson. (Hammond Studio photo)

ADDITIONAL VIEWS ON PROPOSED REGULATION OF TRAIL MACHINES TO BE HEARD AT MARCH 16 MEET

PORTERVILLE - A meeting to receive the views of the public on proposed vehicle regulations covering approximately a half-million acres of land within the Sequoia and Inyo National forests will be held Thursday, March 16, at 9:30 a.m. in the City Council chambers, Porterville city hall.

This proposal has been under consideration during the last two years, and according to Forest Supervisors Lawrence M. Whitfield and Joe Radel of the Sequoia and Inyo National forests, this meeting is a final step to insure that nobody's views are overlooked.

Both Forest supervisors stress that all views, comments, and other information previously received will definitely be considered and these views need not be repeated at this meeting.

YOUTH OPERA TOMORROW IN PORTERVILLE

PORTERVILLE - Two performances of "Die Fledermaus" will be presented by the Pacific West Coast Opera company in the Porterville Memorial auditorium tomorrow, Friday, for students in the community. Curtain time is 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The opera troupe will be in Tulare and Kings counties for eight performances during a four-day period. It is expected that 3,000 students will attend in Porterville, and 10,000 throughout the two counties.

Adult tickets are available at Porterville High school for the afternoon performance in Porterville.

SOME OF the key figures in a meeting held Monday at the Farm Bureau office in Visalia to work out provisions of an acceptable agriculture zone, or zones, for Tulare county. Seated are, from left: Don Trueblood, president of the Tulare County Cattlemen's association and chairman of an interim committee named by Charles Cummings, chairman of the county board of supervisors to study agricultural zoning and make recommendations, and Hil Van Houten, president of the Tulare County Farm Bureau, also a member of the committee. In back: Ed. Olson, chairman of the Tulare County Planning commission; and Bob Bream and Roy Lowe, Farm Bureau members from Lindsay who are also on the committee. Others named are: "Butch" Mankins, agricultural commissioner; Sheldon Jackson, head of the Agricultural Extension service in Tulare county; and Supervisors Don Hillman and Ray Muller.

YES, MR. POST OFFICE, THERE IS A PORTERVILLE

8 So. Park Drive
93257, U.S.A.

Yes, Mr. Post Office, there is a city of Porterville.

Some folks may never see it; some folks may never go there; but to say there is not a city of Porterville is like saying there are no elves, or no fairies; or no post office building.

The returned letter, addressed to the City of Porterville, 601 No. Main, has little blue checks in little red squares indicating that the letter was unclaimed, and that addressee was unknown.

Maybe the addresses of elves and fairies and the post office building are unknown. But if you have faith, you know the little people and the post office building are there.

Of course the city hall is no longer at 601 No. Main. Since the city council changed street numbers, it's at 291 No. Main - three blocks closer.

It is large, and white, and visible from streets on four sides. It has shrubs around it and a landscaped area to the north. Its doors are open from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., except on holidays. The city of Porterville lives there.

Even though you may never see it, the city hall is there, just like the little people are there if you turn over the right leaves in the dark of the moon. It's there just like the post office building is there, if you look.

Yes, Mr. Post Office, there is a city hall. There is a city of Porterville.

Today, there are many quick victories over disease. Each might be described as a crisis that didn't quite happen — thanks to today's superior medicinal agents.

Modern medicines prescribed by your physician score amazing triumphs over diseases which, only a decade ago, were almost certain to become dangerously serious.

Present-day pharmaceuticals, such as the antibiotics, require complex equipment, intricate controls and highly skilled technicians for production. Although somewhat higher in cost, they actually are an investment in economy. They effect an earlier cure and cut down expensive sick-bed time.

GAS POWERED FUEL CELL IN THE OFFING

LOS ANGELES — A $20-million research program over a three-year span to develop a marketable natural gas-powered fuel cell was announced last week by a national scientific research organization.

Subsidiaries of Pacific Lighting Corp. are among 22 natural gas utilities across the country which are supporting the research effort.

A fuel cell generates electricity by continuous chemical reaction, without moving parts.

The Pacific Lighting subsidiaries are Southern California and Southern Counties Gas Cos., and Pacific Lighting Service and Supply Co. Also taking part is El Paso Natural Gas Co. which provides a major part of the out-of-state natural gas supply for the southern California area.

The 22 utilities have joined together in a group called TARGET ("Team to Advance Research for Gas Energy Transformation Inc."), a non-profit organization with headquarters at Chicago, Ill.

PORTERVILLE LIBRARY LISTS NEW BOOKS

A skinny, tubercular, neglected daughter of a minor courtesan decided to become the world's greatest actress, and she was, - both off stage and on. Cornelia Otis Skinner is the ideal biographer for the great Sarah Bernhardt, and in MADAME SARAH we have a marvelous story. Bernhardt's self-promotion was of the Elinor Glyn/tiger-skin flamboyant type. Her lovers were said to be legion, (she had the leading-man-as-lover habit), her scale of living was always on the far side of debt, and her temperament was out of grand opera. Nevertheless her dedication to the theater never flagged, and was matched only by her patriotism. So many lies have been told, and so much exaggeration left for the record, that weighing the evidence could have staggered a less determined biographer, but not this author. A wonderful book about a magnificent character.

To look back upon one's earlier life and choose the best times must be a pleasant task. John Dos Passos has done this in THE BEST TIMES: AN INFORMAL MEMOIR. He has chosen not from the standpoint of self-gratification, but from tolerant understanding of which times most truly contributed to his growth. This is his best book in years, filled with warmth and humor. Dozens of famous writers show up, Scott and his Zelda, Bunny Wilson, E. E. Cummings, and the original subjects of The Sun Also Rises. However, the best part, outshining the several dozen Hemingway episodes, is his memory of his father, a self-made man of Portuguese descent. The father is fully as remarkable as the son. Toward the end of the book, Dos Passos concentrates upon his literary friends, and the colorful way of life that united them. Tact and honesty serve him here, but the reminiscences yield some priceless moments.

All entries must be submitted to the Farm and Home Advisors office by Friday, February 17.

Members who earn a blue seal in area competition will compete in the County Demonstration day on Saturday, March 11. Gold Medal winners at the County Field day will demonstrate at the Regional Field day at Clovis High school on April 8.

Demonstrations will include the following categories: Foods and nutrition, including preservation and preparation; clothing; home furnishing and home management; livestock, including beef, sheep, swine, dairy and horses; crops and other agriculture, including all plants, entomology, and bees; other animals including poultry, rabbits and guide dogs; agricultural engineering; activities; boy's agricultural science (Individual-boys only); girl's home economics science (Individual girls only); agricultural or home economics science team (boys, girls, or mixed).

All club members, leaders and friends are urged to attend the demonstration and judging field days.

CHRISTMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN TOPS LAST YEAR; TUBERCULOSIS AND EMPHYSEMA STILL HEALTH THREAT

TULARE - The annual Tulare County Christmas Seal campaign is running well ahead of last year.

Supervisor Don Hillman of Tulare, honorary Christmas Seal chairman, said $27,000 has been contributed to date. This compared with $24,443 received on the same date a year ago.

Hillman noted that the increase "accents a public awareness not of the work ahead in detecting new cases of tuberculosis, but an even greater awareness of the public health work ahead in the field of education for emphysema." Last year, there were more new cases of emphysema admitted for treatment at the Springville county hospital than ever before.

Dr. Bedford Duff of Visalia, president of the Tuberculosis and Health association of Tulare county, said 11 positive cases of tuberculosis were found last Wednesday in a special skin test conducted among seventh and eighth grade students at the Mulcahy Junior High school in Tulare. However, further tests are being taken among these students to determine if they are active cases or if they merely indicate they may have had a touch of the chest disease in the past.

Chairman of the case finding committee for the association is Dr. E. P. Brauner of Visalia.

An estimated 8,400 acres of cauliflower will be harvested in California between February 1 and July 31.

"STAR" OF the Walt Disney Wonderful World of Color TV show next Sunday will be this car owned by Ed Jones and now on exhibit at the Jones Locker service on West Olive. Back in September of 1965, The Farm Tribune had this to say about the other photos: Nine days on a Walt Disney film production - "The Boy Who Flew With The Condors" - was the experience of Ed Jones and Bob Henry of Porterville, although it is doubtful that their names will appear in lights. Ed took a '24

Chrysler, "Old Horsepower" to the scene of the shooting at Mono Lake and Bodie, and spent the nine days hurrying and waiting. Top photo shows Henry, left, on location with the show director, Ken Nelson, and the star, Chris (they didn't get his last name); lower photos show Ed at home with the Chrysler, also a load of what some folks would say is junk picked up on the desert, but which to Ed are valuable old car bodies that he can use in his renovation of Horseless Carriages. On location also were two other Porterville people now working for Disney - Darwin Chamberlain and Jim Joannides.

Carrots are moving from the Wheeler ridge and Shafter areas of Kern County, and from the Coachenella valley.

From

Nursery

By John

Now comes the time when so many things come into the nursery we run out of space and adjectives before we finish bragging about them. Everything from flowering geraniums to tasteful herbs, from perennial phlox to potatoes and tomatoes, from one dollar azaleas to fifteen dollar mulberries, or from fertilizers to weed killers.

While we're completely out of whiskey trees we have some fine grapes for squeezing muscatel and some great apricots for brandy. These should be planted soon because they are bare-root and also because it takes about three years until the first drink. Meanwhile you might distill a few of our certified seed potatoes and make the wait less painful.

This is lawn sowing time again for those that like the "green, green grass of home." Of course the mow, mow, mow of summer may not thrill you but the cool, green, dust free yard will do wonders for the wife. Instead of ironing sand blasted pants, she can wash grass stained shirts. A change is good for anyone.

For those that planted their tomatoes in time for the first freeze we now have some ready for the second. Also bulk corn, beans, onion sets, and potatoes plus package vegetable seeds of every description. We even have Russian cucumber seeds which we now call Armenian cucumbers. These are long fruited, extra hardy, and excellent for Porterville gardeners. Like all cucumbers and melons they prefer warmer soil than exists now but by mid-March they should start easily. See them soon on "E" St., Porterville.

State Board Rules That Taxable Value Should Be Placed On Grazing Rights

SACRAMENTO - The State Board of Equalization decided last week county assessors should place a taxable value on public land grazing rights, but for legal reasons vetoed a similar proposal on timber cutting contracts.

Member John W. Lynch said the board had a State Supreme court ruling to back up its grazing rights rule. But he explained there is no such clear legal mandate on timber rights, a possessory interest assessment rule for assessors on federal forest cutting contracts.

Member John W. Lynch said the board had a State Supreme court ruling to back up its grazing rights rule. But he explained there is no such clear legal mandate on timber rights, and the board wants the Attorney General's advice.

The Attorney General's office notified the board that it could not advise on the timber issue because it is handling a similar dispute in the courts relating to mineral rights.

"Forty-seven counties have public grazing lands, but only seven assessors have been assessing those grazing rights," Lynch stated. The rule, adopted under the assessment reform law, will "make grazing rights assessments uniform, one of the Board's goals," he said.

We Only Heard

BY BILL RODGERS

A LETTER TO SUSAN

YOU TELL me you are concerned with and upset about the policies of Governor Ronald Reagan as related to the University of California.

SO AM I, but, I would guess, for different reasons.

YOU, AS a student on the Berkeley campus, are concerned because you disagree.

I, AS a country editor, am concerned because I agree. I am concerned because the governor is using an amateurish, heavy-handed approach instead of diplomacy. I am concerned because I fear this will make him less effective.

AND I am completely fed up with students and marble heads in academic robes booing the governor, or booing any elected official or booing any individual holding a responsible public position, for in so doing this rabble is booing you and me and all the people; they are booing the American system of self government.

I KNOW you are not one of the booing crowd. I know your respect for the University of California would keep you from bringing discredit to it. I know you are not personally one of the psychotic exhibitionists or muddled thinkers who march and wave placards. I know you are not personally a part of this minority group. I know you are part of the great majority group on the Berkeley campus - intelligent, respectable young men and women whose real purpose is to enjoy the exciting experience of acquiring knowledge, and to profit from this experience.

YET, IN a sense you are part of the minority - the minority that has created an adverse public image of your university. For the minority is part of the whole with which you are associated.

YOU SAY the image of long hair, beards, dirty clothes, guitars on shoulders, agitators and marchers - students, non-students and faculty - is not a true image of the Berkeley campus. You say you know it is not a true image because you are there; because you know the unpublicized aspects of the campus.

BUT DOWN here at the grass roots, the minority image is real. Many of us know that it is a minority image, but we're getting tired of having to explain this. We are tired of seeing your university - the university of the people of California, being used as a sounding board by smart, and often intellectual kooks. We are tired of seeing the university used as a sounding board for even one communist.

SO REGARDLESS of why the minority image is the image, there is no doubt but that it is. And images just don't disappear because they are false; images can't be argued away. Images persist until a counter-image overpowers them.

PERHAPS IT is this counter image that Governor Reagan, the board of regents, many of our state legislators, and many, many voters want to create - a counter image directors of the Tulare County Farm Bureau had reaffirmed a policy, set several months ago, stating that agricultural zoning, in areas where farmers desired it, should be implemented by the board of supervisors. No policy pro or con, had been set by Farm Bureau directors concerning specific zoning ordinances.

At a later meeting of county cattlemen, opposition to agricultural zoning and what was said to be Farm Bureau policy was voiced. Subsequently, Trueblood attempted to "clear the air" at a meeting of the board of supervisors, and the interim committee was named.

that is a true image of the University of California.

THIS IS what you, and many students like you, also want, I am sure. So perhaps we are not as far apart in disagreement as we are close together in agreement.

AT ANY rate, keep your cool. Let me know how things are going on the campus. And I'll keep you posted on what's happening at the grass roots.

Cahill Promoted To District Ranger

SPRINGVILLE - Harold B. (Fritz) Cahill, 36, for the last two and one-half years assistant district ranger under Robert Werner at Springville, has been promoted to district ranger of the Mono Lake district of the Inyo National forest at Lee Vining, California. His transfer is effective on March 12.

Cahill, his wife Eleanor, and their two children will probably move to Lee Vining early in March.

WE WANT TO SERVE YOUHorticultural Triumph Rocks Botanical World*BOURBON TREE IN FULL FRUIT*Eminent Nurseryman Is Toast Of The Town*Vopat and Hardaway Now Offering Home-Grown Booze

Narrow-minded skeptics who only two years ago laughed and hooted when John Daybell planted a Bourbon tree at Ye Bottle Shoppe are now humble, contrite and eager, for the Bourbon tree has come into full fruit, and a committee of prominent backroom characters is touting Daybell for perpetual Man of the Year.

"Actually", says Daybell, "the experiment is a failure. The Bourbon tree produced Scotch, but this may prove to be only a minor difficulty since there is reason to believe that a top secret planting of Scotch seedlings will produce Bourbon."

Proprietors of Ye Bottle Shoppe, Ralph Vopat and Curtis Hardaway, are philosophical about the Bourbon-Scotch-Scotch-Bourbon mixup. "You can't win 'em all", they say, and they have agreed to accept nursery stock for a 10,000 acre planting if they can find an area that is properly zoned.

Bourbon trees will not be offered for public sale, but their fruit will. In fact Scotch from the Daybell Bourbon tree is right now being offered, to those who would rather switch than fight, at Ye Bottle Shoppe, 56 North D street, just south of the Slough, Porterville.

NOTICE: The Daybell Bourbon tree is protected by International Patent No. S-B-7881526.44, plus sales tax. Anyone caught stealing bud wood will be thrown to the lions.

TELEPHONE RATE INCREASE ASKED; PROPOSED NEW LOCAL RATES LISTED

POTTERVILLE - Following its earlier announcement of a "desperate need" for improved earnings, Pacific Telephone has asked the California Public Utilities commission for permission to increase its rates. In an application filed with the commission, the company proposed increases totaling $158 million in gross annual revenues for telephone service rates. In addition, the company proposed increased charges totaling $23 million annually for telephone directory "Yellow Pages" advertising, which would become effective directory by directory over a two-year period as new directories are issued.

If approved by the Commission, one-party rates for residence customers in Porterville would increase from $4.20 per month to $4.70 per month; and Springville, from $4.70 to $5.35 per month. Basic business service would go up in Porterville from $7.80 per month to $10.55 per month; and Springville, from $8.70 to $11.95 per month.

The company cited its need to expand and improve telephone service in California, the resulting necessity for huge construction expenditures, higher costs and steadily declining earnings as reasons for the requested increase.

Partridge in the Lake Success Game reserve.

The planting of the birds - one of several species of "exotic" foreign game birds that are being introduced into the state of California by the department of fish and game - is on an experimental basis.

Franklin has no idea as to how well the Partridge will do. If they survive and adapt to the area, nest, and increase in numbers, sportsmen can anticipate some exciting shooting in the years ahead.

In order to keep track of the birds, Franklin asks that ranchers in the areas around the game reserve report any sighting of the birds to him.

The Spanish Red-Legged Partridge is related to the Chukar Partridge. They weigh about one pound, they are non-migratory, they like open brush areas, grazed pasture, and large, open fields; they dislike dense vegetation; they do well at altitudes from sea level to 7,000 feet.

Start for the Red-Legs came from a private breeder, who trapped 15 wild birds in 1958 near Subrin, in southeastern Spain. The Partridge are found in Europe through France, Spain, Switzerland and northern Italy.

TRAIL MACHINES

The meeting is to be conducted by Jess Farr, regional attorney for the Department of Agriculture. The meeting will continue until all interested persons have been heard. Those participating are encouraged to submit written statements summarizing their views. Those unable to attend may also submit written statements. These statements may be directed to Forest Supervisor, Sequoia National Forest, P. O. Box 391, Porterville, California 93257.

Area under consideration includes much of the forest land south of the John Muir Wilderness and north of Lakesabella. The original proposal is shown on a map entitled "Restricted Motor Vehicle Area," published by the Forest Service and dated May 1, 1966. This map is available at the offices of the Forest Supervisors in Porterville and Bishop.

The proposal calls for certain controls on off-road vehicular travel in the designated area to provide for public safety and for resource protection.

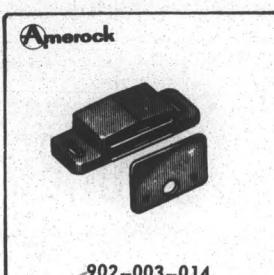

Whitfield points out that a great many expressions, both verbal and written, have been received, and that the March 16 meeting has been scheduled principally to hear views not previously considered.

Date harvest is about 75 per cent complete in Coachella valley.

WALTER GROSHONG AND JUNE OLIVER MAN AND WOMAN OF YEAR AT COLLEGE

PORTERVILLE - Walter Groshong and June Oliver were chosen "Man and Woman of the Year" for Porterville college this week and now are in the running for a state-wide award of $1,000.

The award, sponsored by the Bank of America, is based on superiority in scholarship, college and community activities and the aims and objectives of candidates.

Each junior college in the state selects one man and one woman for the award. Judging Porterville's candidates were Walter Misko, general manager of Beckman Industries, Anna White Garlund, Porterville attorney, and Ray Holloway, Porterville auctioneer.

Groshong and Miss Oliver will now compete with other candidates from valley colleges on February 25 at the College of the Sequoias.

The young man and woman chosen then will compete on a state-wide basis at the spring meeting of the California Junior College association.

Purpose of the award is "to give community and state-wide recognition to the junior college students who, by balanced participation in educational activity and community service programs, demonstrate an outstanding potential for assuming a role of leadership and constructive citizenship."

Groshong has been active in the college's music and drama programs, having sung leading and choir roles in several productions.

He has submitted and shown paintings in campus art displays, danced in the college's Adult Theatre children's play, and played in the Fabulous Studio band.

In addition, he has been a student body officer, president of the local chapter of Alpha Rho, local chapter of the California State Honor society, and acted in music and drama club activities.

Miss Oliver has also been active in college activities, modeling for the annual May Day fashion show, and working in the Homecoming parade as well as the Christmas ball.

She is a Sunday School teacher at the Poplar Methodist church, has taught Vacation Church school and is a teacher's aid for the Pleasant View Elementary school summer session.

Miss Oliver has also won trophies for bowling, and lists bowling, piano, clarinet, art and sewing as hobbies.

Groshong is a music education major, and Miss Oliver is majoring in home economics. Both plan to become teachers.

to the Board of Supervisors on February 21.

"Any idea that there is conflict between the Farm Bureau and the Cattlemen is a result of misunderstanding," Van Houten and Trueblood said. "Most cattlemen are Farm Bureau members, and, certainly, both Farm Bureau and Cattlemen's interest in agricultural zoning are basically the same."
